NAVIGARE YACHTING
EXPERIENCE TOGETHER

Rhode Island

NARRAGANSETT BAY

The state of Rhode Island has more shoreline per capita than any state in the union. It is a state with a large bay in the center and land wrapped lovingly around her. There are 35 islands scattered around the bay, with Newport standing guard over an opening to the ocean. Geologically Narragansett Bay is an ancient river valley that has filled in with mud and sand. So almost all the rocks are close to shore leaving large areas of sailing delight and protected coves and harbors with good holding ground. Sort of like the Virgin Islands but with comfortable summer breezes and steeped with amazing history.
